Dear Donna:

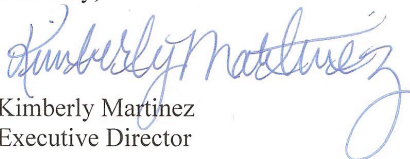

The mission of the Abstinence Clearinghouse is to strengthen local, state, national, and international agencies through the support services it offers. We provide a central location where character, relationship and abstinence programs, curricula, speakers, and materials may be accessed.

We are very excited about the Enough Is Enough (EIE) Internet Safety 101 program and its goal to educate parents and adult caregivers about Internet dangers and provide solutions to protect children online. The Internet safety training materials that EIE provides will alert and educate parents and adult caregivers about online sexual predators and pornographers who seek to victimize innocent and vulnerable children.

Additionally, we thank you for your support of our complementary efforts to create a safer and more secure Internet environment. Together, we will provide the vital training to parents and community groups that will play a critical role in making the Internet a safer place for all children.

The Abstinence Clearinghouse commends and supports you on your outstanding Internet Safety 101 program, and we are excited to work alongside EIE in our common goal of Internet Safety.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Martinez
